1843.

187 On Tuesday, Feb. 29th, 1704, at day break, a party of French and Indians, three hundred in number, under command of the infamous Hertel De Rouville, fell upon Deerfield, Mass. Unhappily, not only the inhabitants, but even the watch, were asleep. They soon made themselves masters of the house in which the garrison ~~sixty~~ was kept. Proceeding thence to the house of Mr. Williams, the clergyman, they forced the doors, and entered the room where he was sleeping.

Awakened by the noise, Mr. Williams seized his pistol, and snapped it at the Indian, who first approached, but it missed fire. Mr. Williams was not seized, disarmed, bound, and kept standing, without his clothes, in the intense cold, nearly an hour.

His house was next plundered, and two of his children, together with a black female servant, were butchered before his eyes. The savages, at length, suffered his wife and five children to put on their clothes, after which, he was himself allowed to dress, and prepare for a long and melancholy march.

The whole town around them was now on fire. Every house, but the one next to Mr. Williams', was consumed. Having now completed their work of destruction, in burning the town, and killing forty-seven persons, the enemy hastily retreated, taking with them one hundred of the inhabitants, among whom were Mr. Williams and his family.

The next first night after their departure from Deerfield, the savages murdered Mr. Williams' servant; and, on the day succeeding, finding Mrs. Williams unable to keep pace with the rest, plunged a hatchet into her head. She had recently borne an infant, and was not yet recovered. But her husband was not permitted to assist her. He himself was lame, bound, insulted, threatened, and nearly famished—but what were personal sufferings like these, and even greater than these, to the sight of a wife under circumstances so tender, inhumanly butchered before his eyes! Before the journey was ended, seventeen others shared the melancholy fate of Mrs. Williams.

On their arrival in Canada, it may be added, Mr. Williams was treated with civility by the French. At the end of two years, he was redeemed with fifty-seven others, and returned to Deerfield, where, after twelve years labor in the gospel, he entered into his rest.

Then, in the winter of 1704, a large party set out from Quebec for the Massachusetts village of Deerfield, on the Connecticut, the farthest west of all the New England settlements, Deerfield having been abandoned the previous year. The attack upon Deerfield is justifiable only on the plea that one must strike one's enemy where he least expects it: for the people of Deerfield had not injured Canada or the Canadians, nor was the town within the disputed territory. The party consisted of 50 Canadians and 200 savages under Hertel de Rouville, who thus immortalized himself in a way his descendants may not relish. The story of this Deerfield attack is in its complete detail a most absorbingly interesting one, but it belongs rather to New England than to Canadian history. The attack took place on February 29, 1704, and was a complete surprise. There were fewer able-bodied men in the town than in the attacking party. Under such circumstances there could be but one result to this contest--wholesale slaughter. Few were able to make any resistance at all, only one house, that of Benoni Stebbins, succeeding in mustering its men quickly and effectively enough wholly to withstand the enemy, and Stebbins himself was killed. Before the destruction of the town and the massacre of its inhabitants was complete, help was summoned from a neighboring village, and the retreat began. About 130 English were carried off as prisoners and about 50 were killed. The English in pursuit were not able to catch up with the invaders, and, moreover, they feared a precipitate attack would result in the butchery of the English prisoners. Among those captured was the Rev. John Williams, minister of the church at Deerfield, whose refusal to eschuse the Roman Catholic religion cost him much suffering. In the end, however, he was well treated by Vaudrueil and at last restored to his home. His chief and lifelong regret was that his family became separated and one of his daughters actually became an Indian's squaw. She visited Deerfield years afterward, but could not be persuaded to remain. Deerfield was at once rebuilt, and has since been, as it is to-day, a staunch sedate village.

Note: The relics and mementos of the raid of 1704 constitute the chief material on exhibition in the Memorial Hall at Deerfield. To-day the town's main distinction lies in its Arts and Crafts Society, one of the earliest and most flourishing and practical of those interesting societies in New England.

Dear Mr. Freeman, -

March 5th 1960

Many thanks
for your letter relating to the Williams family. I have read it very carefully and the following genealogy seems to be suggested:

John Williams m. Miss Armstrong
↓
John; Armstrong; Samuel; Mary.

William Rogers m. Mary Williams
↓
Armstrong m. ?
↓
Samuel.

My great, great grandfather Samuel was born in or near New York
May 28, 1767. He was then only 17 when he came to Pr. Ed. Co in 1784 or about that time.

It thus seems clear that if John and Armstrong were his brothers, they were older and Mary was probably younger.

In the first census of New York state 1790, 10 men named Williams are listed for New York city, including John of the South Ward. There are only two, Isaac and Thomas, listed for Saratoga Town (Shuylerville) and no Armstrongs are listed for Saratoga. There are however 5 Armstrongs listed for New York City inc. 2 Johns.

For Saratoga Town the Rogers family is represented as follows: - Benjamin head of family; 1 free white male under 16; and 1 free white female.

Jethro Rogers 1; 2; 3 of above category.
 Thomas Rogers 2 adult free white males; 5 males under 16;
 6 free females and 3 slaves.

The census of course includes only the residue after the U.E.L.'s had gone and you are doubtless familiar with it. I have a borrowed copy at hand.

Your reference to John Williams' pew in the Anglican church at Bath is the only record of an Anglican Williams that I have heard of. Our family were staunch Wesleyan Methodists and Samuel and Joanna (Platt) Williams' graves are clearly marked in the West Lake cemetery.

However Barbara Hecks husband,
 Paul, was a trustee of the "Little Blue Church" although he was Methodist.

I plan on writing the history of Congress re the records of John
 St. church New York as I think Samuel's parents may have joined Barbara's sect's congregation there. Miss Jacobsen has helped me and I have worked in the Albany library but got no help on the Williams family. I also worked in the
 C. E. L. library in St. John N. B.

I got the record of a Samuel Williams but he was 10 years older than my ancestor. If I get any good clues I will let you know. I never heard of Samuel Williams having any brothers, but our family records and traditions are scant. I have the Caleb Williams bible for later dates in my own family.

Yours sincerely, M. G. Williams

ion. At dawn the shivering captives began their weary march. The impression made upon the tender mind of the child, by the dreadful scenes of this night and the twenty-five succeeding days, may explain the fact of her reluctance to return to the home of which she had retained only this frightful remembrance.

In the distribution of the captives, Eunice fell to the lot of a Mohawk of Saint-Louis (Canghewaga). Whether her beauty pleased his Indian fancy, or her forlorn condition melted his savage breast to pity, it is certain that she was treated with more consideration by her master, than her companions were by theirs. When her little feet were weary, he lifted her to his brawny shoulder, or bore her tenderly in his arms. Wrapping her warmly in his blanket, he drew her on a sledge over the icy rivers, spread her bed softly with thick hemlock boughs when they camped at night, and selected the choicest morsels from his hunting for her food, often stunting himself that she might have the more. Seeing her playmates butchered in cold blood by their cruel masters on that fearful journey, the little innocent clung to her protector with the trustfulness of childhood, and the two strange companions learned to love each other well. On their arrival in Canada, she was carried at once to his home, and thus separated entirely from her family."

Her father & a priest supplied by the Governor went to Canghewaga to ransom Eunice, but the Jesuit would not let them in the fort, stating that the Indians would not give her up.

Later her father was allowed to see her & she begged to be taken with him.

Again, just before his release, he was allowed to see her. And the governor's wife, seeing his deep-seated melancholy, had Eunice brought to Montreal.

Rebaptized as Margaret.

All offers of ransom were refused. She underwent great mental sufferings at the hands of the priest, against which her Indian master was helpless. The Indian left her release to the Governor, who was afraid of offending the King, the Dutch & the Indians.

After John Williams' release, attempts were continued for her release. Schuyler was particularly interested. Deacon Sheldon went to Canada at least three times.

Seven years after capture, an Abenaki squaw agreed to produce Eunice in exchange for her own children being held in Boston but nothing came of it but forlorn hopes. It being stated that Eunice refused to go home.

In the spring of 1713 Geo Schuyler went to Canada to work for her release, but it was found that Eunice had married an Indian. His account says:

That he arrived in Montreal 15 April 1713 & went to Tauxewaga on 26 May together with one of his troops officers & a French interpreter. He was then informed by his two priests of the fact that Eunice was married to a young Indian. He saw & talked with Eunice through an interpreter. She refused to reply. At last her husband (Indian) spoke saying that she might have returned if her father had not re-married.

Attempts continued. Her father & others went to Montreal in winter of 1713/14. He saw his daughter but was not successful. This was his last official attempt to gain her freedom. Eunice's grandmother married Rev. Solomon Stoddard, second minister at Northampton as second husband.

In 1740 the Schuylers brought about an interview between her & her relatives, as a result of which she - later years three times visited Deerfield. Each time she returned to Captivity. She d. there at the advanced age of 90. Her descendants visited Deerfield nearly a century after her capture.

She is buried

Marguerite Gawn'got.

The surname is interpreted as 'they took her and placed her as a member of their tribe.'

"Rev James Dean, missionary to the Indians at Canghnawaga and Saint-Francis in 1773 + 1774 knew Eunice well. He wrote to her brother Stephen Nov 12, 1774 (Sheldon's Hist. of Deerfield, Vol. I, p. 351) "She has two daughters + one grandson which are all the Descendants she has."

"John, son of Eunice, died childless at Lake George in 1758. William Ward Wright's "Charger Williams". Catharine, daughter of Eunice appears on Canghnawaga records as Catharine Gawn'rontie and Catharine Kassinontie (Flying Leg).

"There is no record of her marriage. Her husband was Francois Xavier Onasategem. They had no children, but adopted two. Onasategem died in 1805. Catharine (Flying Leg) his wife, in 1807.

"It is through Onasategem, Catharine's husband, that we recognize the following as the record of Eunice's (Marguerite's) burial:

"On the 26th of November, 1785, I have buried Marguerite, mother-in-law of Onasategem. She was 95 years old.

Signed L. Duhamme, Mission Priest

"So after all the vicissitudes of her life, it is only as the mother-in-law of the "Grand Chef Onasategem," that Eunice Williams' death is noticed. . . . She was born in Sept. 1696, + would therefore have been eighty-nine at her death.

"Mary is the only child of Eunice through whom we can trace the descent. The name of her husband, the father of her children, has hitherto eluded search.

"The following extracts from the records at Coughnawaga establish the fact that Eunice's daughters were Catharine, who died without children, and Mary (not Sarah), who became the mother of Thomas.

"Mary appears on the records of Coughnawaga as Marie Skentsiese (New fish).

"There is no record of her marriage. Her husband's name heretofore unknown, was Louis Sataquienton, Equally known. The only child of this marriage was Thomas, baptized as follows:

"On the sixth day of January, 1759, I, the same (J. B. Denonville, pte of the Society of Jesus, have baptized with the rites of the church a new-born boy, the father Louis Sataquienton, the mother Marie Skentsiese, husband and wife, whom Thomas Taronheagannere named Thomas."

"Thomas Thorakwanneken or Tehorakwanneken (Two suns together), of whose Indian name there are several variations, was the only child of Louis Sataquienton and Marie Skentsiese. His mother's death is thus recorded:

May 14 1779 was buried Marie wife of Sataquienton, aged about 40 years
Jo^e Linguet, pte. S. J.

"Out of respect to his wife's ancestry, Louis Sataquienton had taken the name of Williams. He married a second time, Jan. 29, 1780 (Coughnawaga Records), still keeping the name of Williams, which his children by his second wife also assumed.

"His first child by his second wife was born Oct. 27, 1780. Louis Sataquienton died in 1803. His widow died in 1812. Thomas Tehorakwanneken, the only child of Louis Sataquienton by his first wife, Marie Skentsiese, the daughter of Eunice Williams married in 1779.

valued the rite of baptism to a boy born the day before, son of Thomas Jehorakunnegen and Mary Anne Gonate Bentelon, husband and wife, whom Catharine the wife of Anosalegen, has named Jean Baptiste."

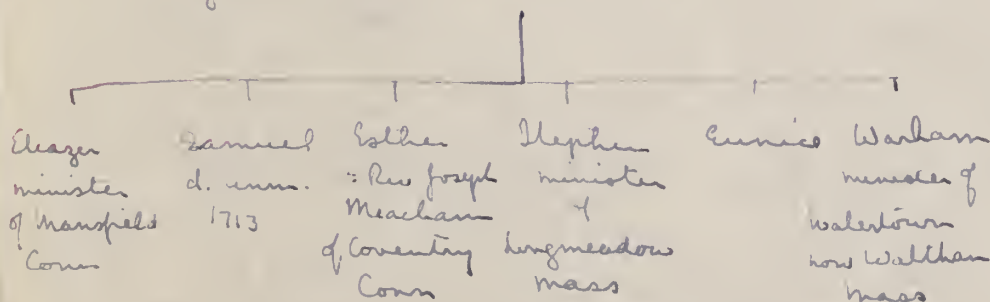

"The above is interesting because the godmother was Thomas' aunt Catharine, daughter of Eunice, and granddaughter of Rev John Williams, — who gave to the baby the name of John

"Catharine was godmother also to Thomas' second child, a girl whom she named for herself. Catharine's adopted daughter Louise was god-mother to Thomas' third child, whom she named Louise. Catharine daughter of Eunice and wife of Anosalegen, died in 1857.

"The records at Chaguanawaga give the births of eleven children to Thomas. We have plenty of evidence that Eleazer also was his son. There are now (1897) in Chaguanawaga several grandchildren and great-grandchildren of Thomas Jehorakunnegen.

There was nothing to take her to Deerfield, except a natural desire to see the place of her birth.

Eleazer Williams

Ethnology of the American Indian

I.C. Pub. Library 19-11-78

The son of Thomas (Tehoragwanegen qv.) and Mary Ann Rice Williams (Konewotewentata), born probably on the shore of L. George, N. Y., in May, 1788, died Aug. 28, 1858, on St. Regis res., near Hogansburg, N. Y., neglected & in great destitution. He is said to have been one of 13 ch., most of whom were born at Canjhuawaga, Quebec, the home of his parents. The childhood of Eleazer passed uneventfully, as usual among children of semi-agricultural Christianized Indians. One of the early playmates of Eleazer related in after life how the latter, wearing a kind of shift as his only garment, sported about the byways of Canjhuawaga, exposed to wounds from stones & bones. Owing to a scrofulous taint in his family, these bruises & injuries left permanent scars, which later in life were increased in size by means of lashes & tartar emetic in such manner as to suggest the scars of the shackles & chains alleged to have been inflicted ~~on~~ him by the jailor Simon of the Tower of the Temple in Paris. In 1800, his father (in opposition to the wishes of the mother, on religious grounds, she being a strict member of the Roman Catholic Church) took him & his brother John to Long Meadow, Mass., to be educated among distant ~~social~~ relations of the father, but John soon returned home because he made no progress in his studies.

At Long Meadow the boys were left with Mr. Nathaniel Ely, who had undertaken to educate them at his own expense, but financial reverses compelled Mr. Ely to appeal first to Missionary societies for aid, then, in 1804, to the state legislature, each time meeting to some success. In 1805 Eleazer visited Montreal; and in the following year, in company with a reputed relation the Rev. Mr. Williams, he went to Boston, where he was questioned by several ministers regarding his studies. Where he met Father Chevreux, to whom he was introduced as an Indian youth studying for the ministry. The Father questioned him, it is said, as to the practice of the Indians in adopting French children, as Williams appeared to him to have French blood, It is possible that at this interview Williams first conceived the idea that he could successfully personate the Dauphin of France. In 1807 he was at Hartford, Mass., where he met President Dwight, who gave him some salutary advice; & in May of the fall. year a Dr. Lymann urged him to become a missionary to the Indians, a suggestion which met with Williams' hearty approval. It was in this year that Mr. O., his friend & benefactor, died, & with his death closed the first scene of Williams' life among civilized surroundings. He lived at Mansfield & Long Meadow until Dec. 22, 1809. when he was placed under the tuition of Rev. Enoch Hale, of Westhampton, Mass., under whose guidance he remained until Aug. 1812. During this period he was commissioned to make a visit to the St. Louis & Cahoonawaga Indians to learn what the prospect was of introducing Protestantism among them. In 1812, owing to the condition of his health, Williams abandoned his studies & travelled in the S., where he met his future friend & bishop, Dr. Hobart. Again visiting his family at Cahoonawaga in the following year, he conversed with their Indian neighbors about the Protestant faith, but the Roman Catholic priests warned them not to listen to his instructions. Nevertheless, the attention shown encouraged him to enter on what was to be his life work.

Early in 1812 Williams went to Canada as an agent of the American Board of Missions, arriving at the Sault St Louis on Jan. 18; but he found it difficult to change the religious beliefs of the people. He continued his missionary tour until March, when the chiefs & councillors made him a chief of the Iniquois at Cahoonawaga, being given the name of Onwan renhiaki ONWARENHIKI, probably meaning 'Tree-Cutter'.

Handwritten text on a single page of aged, yellowed paper. The text is written in a cursive script, likely from the 18th or 19th century. The paper shows signs of wear, including creases, discoloration, and a small tear at the top edge. The handwriting is somewhat faded and difficult to decipher in many places, but appears to be a continuous narrative or letter. The text is arranged in several paragraphs, with some lines indented. The overall tone of the document is historical and personal.

In July he returned to Westhampton. At the beginning of the War of 1812, Williams, being regarded as a sensible person to aid in preventing the Inds. of his tribe from espousing the cause of England, was appointed Capt.-Gen. of the Northern Ind. Dept. He was assigned to duty in Gen. Dearborn, but was transf. to service in Gen. Jacob Brown, under whom he acted in a confidential capacity, obtaining through the Can. Inds. valuable information regarding the movements of Br. troops. At the battle of Ball's Bluff, N.Y., Sept. 11, 1814, he was wounded. At this time he had not completed his theological studies. In Nov. 1820 Gen. A. G. Ellis went to Oneida Castle, N.Y., where Wms had resided for abt. 3 yrs. as a catechist in a Episc. Church, in order to aid the latter in teaching school. In this service Wms was to repay Ellis by instructing him in Latin, Greek, & French. Instead of being learned in these languages, however, Ellis found that Wms was ignorant of them, & that he had really been induced to live in Wms in order that a letter might be instructed in rudiments of English. Ellis lived in Wms abt. 4 yrs, during which period a letter made no appreciable progress, not being able then says Ellis, "to compose five lines of the English decently." Nevertheless, during his residence among the Oneida, Wms, by his persuasive eloquence in a native tongue, had induced a old Pagan party, numbering about three-fourths of a tribe, to abjure paganism. He had further induced them to grant him 100 acres of land for his own use & to sell several hundred acres more to the state to provide a fund to build a ch. & a schoolhouse. The proceeds of sale, amounting to abt $7,000, were placed by a grand jury in the hands of judges Wms & Miller, of Ulster, to secure faithful application of the sum to the purposes mentioned. Wms, however, managing to obtain control of the expenditure of the money, erected a church at a cost of $1200 or $1400, for which he submitted bills covering a entire sum of $4500, but in such equivocal shape that they would not bear examination, whereupon a 2 mistakes resigned their trust. In many years a Oneida charged Wms with malfeasance, but a matter was never adjusted or explained. In Oct 1820 Rev. Jedidiah Morse, who had travelled through a N. Y. as far as Green Bay, Wis., presented to Wms a project for removing a N. Y. Inds to a country w. of L. Mich. Wms was ripe for such a venture, even claiming later that he was a originator of a scheme. In a council in a Oneida, which Morse called to discuss a proposal, Wms acted as interpreter. After a council was over, Morse asked Wms for a copy of a speech of a Oneida chief in reply, which was strongly adverse to Morse's proposal. Several days later Wms completed a fictitious speech, misrepresenting a answer of a Oneida, to which he forged a names of their chiefs. In a foll. yr, a chiefs, again in council with Morse, when Wms was not present, repudiated Wms interpretation of a speech as "a lie from beginning to end." At this time he was at Green Bay, Wis., as a self-constituted delegation of Oneida, Onondaga, Tincanora & Stock-budges, negotiating a project for a removal of all the N. Y. Inds to a country betw. a Miss. & Green Bay, Wis., to establish a government among them of an empire with a single supreme head. In a furtherance of his plan in 1821 Wms visited N. Y. & entered into negotiations with a Ogden Ld. Co., which then held a preemption right to most of a Ind. lds in w. N. Y., looking to a removal of a N. Y. Inds beyond a limits of a state, & need sums of money from time to time for a purpose of advancing a interests of a land coy. Wms also busied himself at this time in enlisting a aid of missionary societies in establishing a ch. among a Inds.

at Green Bay, & carried on a voluminous correspondence wth the War Dept under which the Ind. affairs were then administered, in order to obtain recognition of his schemes. Aided by the Order of the Sons, he finally obtained official permission to lead a delegation of Inds to Green Bay, representing to them that the affair was "under the patronage, protection, & assistance of the Govt.;" but when the proposal was openly made to the N.Y. Inds. in council, the Seneca & other tribes, though the famous Red Jacket, emphatically refused their assent to the project. Nevertheless, through the machinations & powerful influences behind his schemes, a treaty was finally negotiated in 1832 by which the Sons' plan was partly realized. Most of the Oneida rem. to Wisconsin, but the Seneca, led by the Tuscarora & Onondaga, resolved to hold their lds. in N.Y. at all hazards.

When the rem. to Green Bay in 1823 he in Miss Mary Jourdain. He had promised schs. to the Inds. & Fr. naders in consideration of their consent to establish N.Y. Inds. among them; but having failed to redeem these pledges the missionary societies disavowed their confidence in him, & in 1827 applied as missionary to Rev Richard T. Cable, who estab. a sch. at Menomonieville, Wis. To further the Green Bay lds. scheme the Sons realized that he was needed, & drew to his home at Kaukaun. He could do no rec. aid from some of the missionary bds, since he represented himself as a missionary of the Oneida at Duck Creek, Wis., altho he did not perform the duties of that station. Abt 1832 the Oneida, becoming wearied of the Sons' misdeeds, held a council to which they invited Lt. Geo. Boyd, U.S. Ind. agt., in order to show him that for yrs the Sons had failed to carry out any of his many promises; that, owing to his want of good faith, his fraud & deceit, they were in a wilderness, utterly abandoned, lost schools, chs., & religious privileges.

of any kind; & worse than all, that a little fund provided by kindness of Christian public in East was anticipated caught on its way to them by him, & consumed for entirely contrary purposes." At Wm's request, a com. notified a gov. of N.Y., a U.S. Govt., & many societies, warning the authorities that Ouida had forever repudiated Wm's, & asking that he should not be recognized as acting for him in any capacity. This indictment was so disastrous to Wm that he dropped out of sight until 1853, when he reappeared in a new role, that of a Dauphin of France, a Lost Prince, Le Prince X. At once he gained many credulous adherents & apologists, altho it had been shown that he was "a most perfect adept at fraud, deceit, & intrigue that would ever be produced." He so far imposed on the credulity of many well-meaning persons that Rev. Jos. H. Hanson in 1854 published an elaborate work, entitled The Lost Prince, in support of Wm's preposterous claim, based largely on material manuf. by Wm himself. Gen. A. G. Ellis (Wis. Hist. Soc. Coll. viii, 1879) & Wm Ward Wight (Eleazar Wm Not the Dauphin of France, 1903) have shown the groundlessness of his claim. For Wm's published translations of a Logquois, see Pilling, Bibliography of a Logquois languages, Bull. B. A. E. 167-168, 1888

At the same time Williams was soliciting aid from missionary societies for establishment of a church for the Indians at Green Bay.

In correspondence with the War Dept he obtained official permission to lead a delegation of Inds. to Green Bay. When in conference with N.Y. When Williams realized his failure in Green Bay his scheme he gave up as ruined and withdrew to his home in Kankakee. He continued to receive some support from Miss. societies as missionary to the Oneidas at Duck Creek, Mo. Oneidas, fed up with Williams, invited Col. Geo. Boyd, U.S. Ind. Agt. to visit them to see how Williams had failed them without schools or religious purposes, his want of good faith, his fraud & deceit, & appropriation of their funds. As a result the U.S. Ind. Agt. notified Govt. that Williams had been repudiated by the Oneidas forever.

Williams, thus defeated, dropped out of sight until 1853 when he reappeared as the Dauphin of France, the lost Prince Louis XVII, even though he stood indicted as "the most perfect adept at fraud, deceit & intrigue that the world ever produced." Rev Jno H. Hanson published "The lost Prince" supporting Williams, of which most of book was by Williams himself.

The Red Cross Society are pleased to report receiving a quilt from Miss P. M. Williams. This dear old lady will be 88 years old on June 16th, and, although she has the use of only one eye, has done very fine work on the quilt. She sent to Eaton's for the material and as soon as she received it she set to work, and soon completed an article which anyone would be proud to own. Miss Williams, or Aunt Patience as she is familiarly known by a great many friends, is very active and takes a keen interest in all that is going on around the village. She has lived here all her life and is the oldest resident who was born here. She is the sole survivor of a family of 12.

March 1962

GENERAL MEETINGS

On November 2, 1961, a general meeting of members was held in the Corby Library at Belleville. After the business session and in lieu of a speaker, a tour was arranged of the recently opened Hastings County Historical Society Museum, where articles of local historical interest are on display as well as a collection of early 18th century furniture, silver, ornaments, etc. A pleasant social hour was spent with refreshments served under the convenorship of Mrs. E. S. Denyes and Mrs. Robert Carmichael. Mrs. Donald McKnight, whose application had been approved, was accepted into membership.

On January 3, 1962, a general meeting was held at the Royal Hotel, Picton. Appreciation was expressed for the erection of a monument at Hay Bay United Church by the Board of Trustees in memory of the children of Loyalists who lost their lives in a drowning tragedy in 1819. The President reported the death of Mr. Erle S. Denyes, a charter member of the Branch, and a minute's silence was observed in remembrance. The speaker was Mrs. David Taylor who gave an interesting address on "Historical Houses of Prince Edward County." A social hour with refreshments brought the meeting to a close.

MUSEUM AT ADOLPHUSTOWN

At an executive meeting on February 2, 1962, it was reported that an Agreement had been approved by the St. Lawrence Seaway Commission and the Bay of Quinte Branch and would be completed in the near future.

TRANSPORTATION

In order to assist members who are without means of transportation, and to encourage attendance at meetings, members who drive are asked to get in touch with other members in their vicinity with a view to offering them a lift.

QUERIES

Mrs. Bertha J. B. Davis of 2036 Harrison Blvd., Boise, Idaho, U. S. A., would like to know where her U. E. L. ancestors are buried in Hastings and Lennox and Addington Counties. Can anyone help?

Queries by members will be welcome for inclusion in the Newsletter and the information supplied if available.

GENELOGIES

Sincere appreciation of the membership is due to Mr. E. Claude Young through whose efforts a large number of genealogies of U. E. L. families have been compiled to be placed in the reference library of the Museum. There is still much to be done in this regard and Mr. Young is desirous of carrying on the work if the members will cooperate by supplying him with all the information in their possession.

OLD CEMETERIES AND BURYING GROUNDS

An activity that would be of great value might be carried on by individual members residing in Hastings, Prince Edward and Lennox and Addington Counties, namely, the listing of cemeteries and burying grounds where U. E. Loyalist settlers were buried and a list of the family names found in each. As time goes on it will be increasingly difficult to obtain such information as the grounds fall into disrepair, the names become obliterated and, in some cases, the grounds diverted to some other purpose. Some work along this line was done by Mr. Macaulay Pope, President of the Governor Simcoe Branch, in June 1960, and Mr. and Mrs. Loral Wannamaker have also been active in this respect. Will you not help by doing the same in your locality and reporting the information so obtained?

MEMBERSHIP DUES - Membership renewals are due April 1st next. The Treasurer, Mr. Harry Blakely, Box 250, Picton, Ontario, will be glad to hear from you in this respect.

MARCH 1st 1961 meeting was held in the Memorial Building at Napanee. Attendance cut down by sickness and counter attractions, nevertheless it was a good meeting. Miss Kaye McFarland brought in a revised agreement from the O.-St L. D. Commission regarding the Allison House and Museum; this brought out considerable discussion and many suggestions, ending in a motion to refer it back to the Museum Committee and Executive meeting in a joint session with the hope that improvements in the terms can be arranged. One item of interest provides that on a date selected by the Bay of Quinte Branch all members with cards in good standing would be admitted to the Park and Museum without payment of the customary Commission fees. Claude Young brought in report and recommendations of the Nominating committee, which was received and approved for presentation to the Annual Meeting on May 3rd at Adolphustown for Final vote. President Maurice Young requested a standing minute of silent remembrance for our recently elected member, Mr William Marsh of Brighton. A motion by Warner McFaul chairman of the Historical committee sought approval for publishing the historical paper "Why Unity of Empire?" given at the January meeting, and mailing a copy together with this NEWSLETTER to each member, which was granted. Applications for memberships were recommended and approved of: Mrs Ella A. (Ritchie) McMillan, Ottawa; Mr Fred Taverner and his daughter Mrs Winnifred Elliott, both of RR 3 Napanee. The latter two were presented to members present and warmly welcomed. The social half hour was enlivened by tasty and enjoyable refreshments.

WEDNESDAY MAY 3rd 1961 will be our next meeting, to be held in the Historic old Adolphustown Township Hall, Adolphustown, at 8 p.m. sharp. As this will be our Annual Meeting with election of Officers for the ensuing year, and report on stewardship by committee conveners for the past twelve months, it will be worth your while to attend.

SUNDAY APRIL 30th 1961 brings to a close our current membership year, which indicates that a renewal of your membership card is due. TWO DOLLARS remitted to our efficiently hard-working Treasurer, Mr Harry G. Blakely, Box 250 Picton, will bring your renewed membership card by early mail.

WITH THE OPENING of the Quinte Loyalist Museum and our U.E.L. Reference Library in the not too distant future, our Museum committee faces need for more funds than our treasury can supply. Here is a suggestion whereby you can make a material contribution toward this need--simply interest some of your relatives and friends in applying for memberships. Application forms may be had from the President or any member of the Executive, and you could assist in preparing it, as well as being the proposer. The resulting membership fees (three dollars) and dues (two dollars) will cover all costs until April 30th 1962, after which two dollars annually will keep a member in good standing.

WOULD YOU LIKE A NEWSLETTER each month? Express your ideas on this to our President, Mr Maurice H. Young, RR 1 Bath, but also include a suggestion as to a NEWSLETTER Editor.

"Are you an active member, the kind that would be missed?
Or are you just contented that your name is on the list?
Do you attend the meetings and mingle with the flock?
Or do you stay at home and criticize and knock?
Do you ever go and visit a member who is sick?
Or leave the work to just a few and talk about the clique?
Come to the meetings often and help with hand and heart
Don't be just a member, but take an active part;
Think this over, member, you know right from wrong.
Are you an active member or do you just belong?

March 1961 NEWSLETTER of U.E.L. BAY OF QUINTE BRANCH

It is extremely difficult to produce a NEWSLETTER comparable to those issued last year by former President John Chard. However we shall do our best to briefly and interestingly report the main activities of our Branch in our last four meetings.

SEPTEMBER 7th 1960 was a well attended meeting held in the Allison House in the U.E.L. Memorial Park, Adolphustown. Resignation of E. John Chard as President, made necessary through his removal to Ottawa, came as a distinct shock to all present. Maurice H. Young our 1st Vice-President took on the heavier duties of President and most capably carried them on. Two guest speakers, both members brought us some historical items; Miss Mary L. Allison of Napanee related many interesting facts about the Allison House in which she was born; Dr. H. C. Burleigh of Bath followed through with a paper titled "The Story of Adolphustown." Applications for membership were recommended and approved of: Mrs. Minnie A. McKee and her sister Mrs. Leila Jordan, both of Trenton; Mr. Lindley B. and Mrs. Frances Calnan of Picton; Mr. Rush M. Blodget of Laguna Beach, Calif; Mrs. Mary Mack of Port Hope; Mrs. Emma Mildred Wanamaker and husband Mr. C. Loral R. Wanamaker of Rossmore. Following inspection of the many improvements completed to Allison House, a social hour visiting with friends was capped with serving of delightful refreshments, including a four-story birthday cake.

NOVEMBER 2nd 1960 meeting was held in Shire Hall, Belleville. A goodly number turned out who had not been able to attend the Adolphustown meeting. Also several visitors, including Mr. Gerald Boyce, President of the Hastings County Historical Society who reported that good progress was being made toward establishment of a County Museum in the old Registry building at rear of the new Court House. Miss Kaye McFarland introduced guest speaker Mr. James Gooding the Director of Museums for Ontario, who had some very helpful as well as interesting facts relating to our proposed Quinte Loyalist Museum at Adolphustown. Approval was voiced of the Executive appointment of Mr. Charles F. Young of Adolphustown to vacancy of 5th Vice-President. Miss Helen Fraleck brought in a supply of U.E.L. Christmas Cards that were quickly picked up following the meeting. A motion calling for a letter of deepest sympathy being sent to the family of the late Macaulay Pope, a native son, officer of the Governor Simcoe Branch U.E.L. for several years. Applications for membership were recommended and approved of: Mrs. Florence A. Williams, Brighton; Mr. John F. Webster, Belleville; Mr. Robert E. Webster, Ottawa; Dr. Arthur H. Judson and daughter Miss Frances J. Judson, Brockville; Mrs. Maude E. M. McClelland, Ottawa. During a social hour following, the local social committee served lovely refreshments.

JANUARY 4th 1961 meeting held in the Shire Hall, Picton had a small attendance, due to quite inclement weather and road conditions. A motion was passed to send a letter of appreciation to our member Mrs. Gena Branscombe Tenney in New York City for so thoughtfully sending us a copy of her latest song hit "Arms That Have Sheltered Us". (Let's hope it will be sung at our annual meeting on May 3rd). A letter of appreciation to Dr. Merton Y. Williams of Vancouver for his kindly donation of his book "The Bowerman Family" for our Reference Library was moved to be sent. A Nominating Committee of Claude Young, Arthur Morden and Lt.-Col. Wm. A. Davern was appointed to bring in nominations for the coming year. President Maurice Young read a copy of a proposed agreement regarding the Quinte Loyalist Museum in Allison House as set out by the Ontario-St. Lawrence Development Commission, together with certain suggested amendments offered by our Museum committee. On a motion by Capt. Jack Rogers and Percy Allison, the President and the Chairman of the Museum committee received authorization to sign for the Branch when the amended agreement is presented. The Commission proposed the Museum would be open from May 16th to October 15th, but as yet has not set the official initial opening date. An expression of appreciation was moved for the extensive genealogical research work carried on by Claude Young in his preparation of Loyalist family histories. Only one application for membership received recommendation and approval, being that of Mr. William Marsh of Brighton. On a request by President Maurice H. Young a historically interesting paper titled "Why Unity of Empire?" was prepared and read by Claude Young. The evening was brought to a close by adjourning to the Royal Hotel dining room where sandwiches and coffee were served during a social half hour of visiting.
